

WHAT A WONDERFUL DAY!

Young people from different countries with different interests united in a new adventure. This is basically what happened on 22nd November 2016: three classes of three different schools went on an amazing trip together to the caves of San Canziano (Slovenia).

The day was memorable for the relaxing walk into the wood above and around the spectacular caves. Besides, the magnificent underground world inflamed the students' imagination and made them more talkative and willing to exchange impressions and socialize with the foreign teenagers.

It was a wonderful experience because we were in close contact with nature: the roaring river flowing underground, the sight of the artistic stalactites and stalagmites, the mysterious atmosphere of the caves. It was a wonderful experience because of the new friends we made, the interests in common we discovered, the games we played at lunchtime in the open air.

The guided tour of the caves was unforgettable and the test about the caves was great fun. We are looking forward to our next exchange day in Friuli to explore the Villanova caves together.
